Hearing, Vision, and Communication
This story is part of the Access for All program for people with disabilities at the Philadelphia International Airport (PHL). This program can be used to assist you when you are flying to or from PHL.
Let's talk about hearing, vision and communication!

Examples of hearing, vision, and communication disabilities:

- Hearing loss, vision loss and communication disabilities can be lifelong or newly acquired.
- The way that the condition affects the individual is unique to the individual.
- Stroke, physical injury, developmental disability, brain injury, and autism spectrum disorders are a few of the medical conditions that can cause communication, vision, and hearing disabilities.
How does vision, sight, and communication impact travel?

For some, disabilities impact their ability to travel, and they need some assistance. You can sometimes self-accommodate, but assistance is available when needed.

Examples of Self-Accommodations
- Comfort items such as headphones
- Using Apps like the AIRA App
- Using a White Cane
- Using Communication cards

Examples of requested assistance
- Guided assistance requested from your airlines
- Help through security from TSA Cares
- Guest pass available from the airlines
- Sunflower lanyard from an information booth
PHL provides some programs and services that are helpful for people with disabilities.

You will find a ticketing area for each terminal in the Airport.

In ticketing, you get your boarding pass and check luggage that you are not carrying on to the plane.
You can obtain a wheelchair or guide in the ticketing area.
You can call TSA Cares for assistance through security or if you have questions about security.

Email TSA Cares
(855) 787-2227

After ticketing, you will go through Security. This area is managed by TSA.
Once you leave security, you will make your way to your gate.
The Airport can become very full of people and noisy on busy days.
If you need assistance through security or the airport, you have options.

1. You can request a “guest pass” at ticketing to have someone you know assist you through security and to your gate. Not all airlines offer this, but many do!

2. Contact TSA Cares to ask for an assistant through security.

3. Call your airlines to request wheelchair assistance or an escort to go with you from ticketing, through security, and to your gate.
You can contact the PHL ADA Office if you need an accommodation while you are at PHL.
